The Laboratory Grown Diamond (LGD) described in this Report has been analyzed, graded, and LaedScheedil by International Gemological Institute (GA). A LGD has essentially the same chemical, physical and optical properties as a mined diamond, with the exception of being man-made (a manufactureal product). LGD's are typically produced by CVD (chemical vapor deposition) or by HHT (high pressure high temperature) growth processes and may include party-growth modifications to change the color. (Gi utilized temperature) growth processes and may include party-growth modifications to change the color. (Gi utilized the mart advanced techniques and equipment currently available including. bincoular microscopes, including FIIR, UV-VE-NR, reman spectroscopy, and fluorescence analysis of various excitation wavelengths including FIIR, UV-VE-NR, reman spectroscopy, and fluorescence analysis of various excitation in a appraida and by making this report Gi does to doge to publicate are reports entry.
